No. 27.—

RULES FOR ADMISSION TO THE MADRAS PROVINCIAL CIVIL SERVICE

PART I.

General Rules issued by the Government of India.

(Home Department Resolution Nos. 1045-1052, dated 15th August 1903.)

The Governor-General in Council has had under consideration the recommendation made by the Royal Commission on Decentralization at the end of paragraph 128 of their Report on the subject of framing rules for the recruitment of provincial services. The majority of the Commission consider it unnecessary that rules for the recruitment of these services should, as is now the case, require the sanction of the Government of India, and they express the opinion that the functions of that Government should be limited to laying down a few general principles as to eligibility for appointment, etc., on which detailed particular rules would be based.

2. In the present Resolution the Governor-General in Council proposes to deal only with the Provincial Civil Services (executive and judicial). The case of other provincial services will be separately considered.

3. The present system under which the previous sanction of the Government of India is required in making or altering the rules for the recruitment of the Provincial Civil Services was introduced in 1862 as the result of the Report of the Public Service Commission. The Governor-General in Council has now decided to accept in substance the recommendation of the Despatch-Instruction Commission and is pleased accordingly to invest local Governments with the power to make rules for the recruitment of the Provincial Civil Services without the previous sanction of the Government of India, but subject to their general control. The general conditions which should govern such recruitment have been already fully considered in connection with the inquiry made by the Public Service Commission, and the Governor-General in Council, upon a further consideration of the subject, sees no reason to modify the conclusions then arrived at. It will, however, be convenient to restate them in the present connection, as follows:—

I.—The rules must be adapted on the one hand to obtain thoroughly efficient candidates and, on the other, to secure the due representation in the public service of the different classes of the community.

II.—Every candidate for appointment by recruitment must furnish satisfactory evidence—

- (a) that he is not over 35 years of age, except in the case of Barristers, Advocates, or Pleaders appointed to the judicial branch; those accepted years will be governed by Article 51 of the Civil Service Regulations;
- (b) that he has attained a prescribed preliminary standard of general education to be laid by local Governments with reference to local conditions, the object being to secure men qualified by as high a standard of general education as the conditions and requirements of the local administration permit. In particular, qualification in one or more of the vernacular languages of the province in which he is to be employed is to be insisted on. The vernacular standard should be a high one, involving a thorough knowledge of the language and ability to write and read the written character with facility;
- (c) that he is of sound health, good physique, and active habits; and
- (d) that he is of good character.

III.—Every person appointed to the Provincial Civil Service by direct recruitment shall be subject to a period of probation of training during which time his appointment will be probationary only, unless in special cases the local Government desires such probation or training to be unnecessary.

IV.—The subjects of Native Princes in alliance with His Majesty shall be eligible for appointment, provided they are qualified in other respects.

V.—Admission to the Provincial Civil Service should usually be confined to persons who are natives of the province or have definitely settled in it; in the case of candidates who are not natives of the province great preference of at least three years in the province, should, as a general rule, be a essential condition of admission. No Barrister, Advocate or Pleader should be appointed as such, unless he has been at least three years actually practising his profession in India and can speak the provincial vernacular.

VI.—Europeans who are not statutory natives of India shall be eligible for appointment, if qualified according to the above conditions, with the sanction of the Government of India.

VII.—The local Government should reserve to itself the right to make promotion in the superior grades of the Provincial Civil Service without regard to seniority, and seniority alone should not give a claim to appointment to the grade of Rs. 500 a month and higher grades.

VIII.—The Government of India retain power in very special cases to make direct appointments to offices in the higher grades of the Provincial Civil Service, and whenever the Government of India exercise this power in the case of judicial officers, it will be confined to Barristers, Advocates, or Pleaders of the High Courts who have shown distinguished ability in the exercise of their profession for not less than ten years and have a thorough knowledge of the vernacular.

IX.—No member of the Provincial Civil Service shall be dismissed otherwise than on the result of a judicial or formal departmental inquiry.

X.—The Governor General in Council directs that any change made in the rules from time to time should be forthwith communicated to the Government of India in the Home Department, in order that they may be in a position to exercise effective general control. His Majesty in Council considers it desirable, moreover, that this sanction should be published by the local Governments and Administrations as part of the respective provincial rules.

No. 1.—The following resolution of the Government of India is republished:—

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT.

ACQUISITION AND FINANCE—LOANS.

Calcutta, 15th December, 1910.

REGULATION

No. 6693-A.—The conditions on which local authorities are allowed to raise sterling loans were originally explained in the Resolution in the Times dated 26th April, 1908. Since then, various instructions on the subject have been issued, from time to time, by the Government of India, for the guidance of local bodies. Recently, the Secretary of State has communicated further orders and suggestions in regard both to sterling loans and to the issue of short-term bills in sterling. The Government of India, therefore, consider it desirable to re-publish and amplify the existing directions on the subject.

2. The general principles which govern the raising of sterling loans by local bodies are these—

(1) Borrowing is desirable to meet such loans will be sanctioned only in cases in which

(2) there is a reasonable prospect of the money being repaid at a rate of interest not exceeding 4 per cent and, at a price not appreciably below par, and in which it does not appear probable that the loan could be repaid in India, except on terms appreciably less favourable to the local body.

(3) Local bodies borrowing in sterling must make their own arrangements for bringing the capital repaid to India and for investing the interest in the colonies of the stock.

4. The general conditions precedent to the raising of sterling loans are as follows—

(4) An application for permission to raise a sterling loan must be submitted through the Local Government to the Government of India in sufficient time to allow of the necessary reference to the Secretary of State. Generally speaking, it is advisable that the application should be made a month before the loan is required.

(5) In forwarding the application to the Government of India, the Local Government will furnish information on the points specified in paragraph 6 of the Notification of the Government of India, Acquisition and Finance No. 6583-A, dated 15th October 1907, and will state its opinion as to the desirability or otherwise of sanctioning the loan.

(6) The date or approximate date of issue, and, if the loan is to be repaid through a Bank or firm, the name of the Bank or firm must be specified in the application.

4. The sanction of Local Government and local authorities is given by the following supplementary instructions and suggestions as to the raising of sterling loans—

(7) The nature of the loan, the price paid by the public, the net price received by the local body, and the commission, if any, and other expenses connected with the loan, should be reported by the local body confidentially through the Local Government to the Government of India, for transmission to the Secretary of State, as soon as practicable.

(8) If a Bank or firm has named the loan, it should be furnished, with a certified copy of the Government order conveying sanction to the raising of the money and authorizing the form of the loan. Without this, a quotation on the London Stock Exchange cannot be obtained.

(9) The first loan of any denomination brought out by a local body should be offered to competitive tenders. Only Banks or firms of good standing should be invited to tender, a condition which is specially important in view of the advantage of being able to make subsequent loans through the original issuing house. The right of rejecting any tender, or all, should be reserved in all cases and should be exercised when the conditions in 2 (3) above are not satisfied. When the first loan has been officially quoted on the London Stock Exchange, there will ordinarily be no objection, in the case of subsequent loans, to the local body arranging terms with the original issuing house without naming competitive tenders, provided always that the general conditions of the market justify as to the issue and rate of interest. In such cases, the proposed terms will require the previous sanction of the Secretary of State and should be reported through the usual channels.

(10) When several successive loans are made by the same local body at short intervals, it will usually be advantageous that the later loans should rank pari passu with the first ones. When therefore a succession of loans repayable in 30 years or in mortgage, the Government of India will have no objection to the currency of the first loan being fixed at 35 years, on condition that any further loans raised during the following ten years shall be repayable on the same date.

8. When a local body desires to obtain purely temporary accommodation in England, otherwise than by an advance from its banker, the following procedure should ordinarily be adopted—

(11) The local body should make a public issue of bills in its own name, expressed to be payable at a specified date by itself to the holders. Provision to such issue should be applied for in the same manner and with the same particulars as to the nature of the issue of regular sterling loans.

8. The Secretary of State is pleased to invite the careful attention of all Local Governments and local authorities to the instructions and advice conveyed above.

AT THE COURT AT ST. JAMES'S.

The 18th day of October 1909.

PRESENT:

THE KING'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY IN COUNCIL.

WHEREAS by section 418 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1904, His Majesty is empowered from time to time on the joint recommendation of the Admiralty and the Board of Trade by Order in Council to make regulations for preserving collisions at sea, in the said Act referred to as Collision Regulations:

And whereas by section 404 of the said Act it is provided that whenever it is made to appear to His Majesty in Council that the Government of any foreign country is willing that the said regulations or any of them should apply to the ships of that country when beyond the limits of British jurisdiction, His Majesty may, by Order in Council, direct that those regulations shall, subject to any limitation of time, conditions and qualifications contained in the Order, apply to the ships of the said foreign country, whether within British jurisdiction or not, and that such ships shall for the purpose of such regulations be treated as if they were British ships:

And whereas by section 431 of the said Act His Majesty is empowered from time to time by Order in Council to make rules as to signals of distress:

And whereas by section 721 of the said Act it is provided that where it has been made to appear to His Majesty that the Government of any foreign country is desirous that any of the provisions of that Act which do not apply to the ships of that country, should so apply, and there are no special provisions in the Act to that effect, His Majesty in Council may order that such of those provisions as are in the Order specified shall (subject to the limitations, if any, contained therein) apply to the ships of that country, and to the crews, masters, second, and apprentices of those ships, when not locally within the jurisdiction of the Government of that country, in the same manner in all respects as if those ships were British ships:

And whereas by section 728 of the said Act it is provided that where His Majesty has power under that Act or any Act amending the same, to make an Order in Council His Majesty may from time to time make that Order in Council and by Order in Council revoke, alter or add to any Order so made:

And whereas by the said last-mentioned section it is further provided that subject to any special provisions of that Act upon the publication of any such Order the Order shall as from the date of its publication or any later date mentioned in the Order take effect as if it were enacted by Parliament:

And whereas by an Order in Council dated the 17th day of November, 1896, regulations for preserving collisions at sea and as to distress signals were made as regards British ships and boats, and by a subsequent Order dated the 7th day of July 1897, those regulations were extended, subject to the limitations stated in the Order, to the ships of the several countries specified in Schedule III to the last-mentioned Order:

And whereas by Order in Council dated respectively the 18th day of August 1899, the 7th day of July 1907, and the 4th day of April 1908, other regulations for the preservation of collisions were made as regards British ships:

And whereas it is expedient to amend the regulations which have been made as regards British ships:

And whereas it has been made to appear to His Majesty that the Government of the several countries mentioned in Schedule II have assented or willing that the regulations and rules contained in Schedule I should, subject to the qualifications mentioned in the aforesaid Schedule I and to the proviso in the case of Chinese ships that the application of the regulations and rules shall be limited to ships of such type, apply to the ships of those countries when beyond the limits of British jurisdiction:

And whereas the provisions of section, of the Rules Publication Act, 1883, have been complied with:

Now therefore His Majesty, by virtue of the powers conferred on Him by the aforesaid Act, and on the joint recommendation of the Admiralty and the Board of Trade, and by and with the advice of His Privy Council, is pleased to direct that the collision regulations and the rules as to signals of distress contained in Schedule I to this Order shall apply to all British ships:

And His Majesty is also pleased to direct that the said regulations and rules shall subject to the aforesaid qualifications and to the proviso in the case of Chinese ships that the regulations and rules shall be applicable only to ships of foreign type, apply to the ships of the countries named in Schedule II to this Order whether they are within British jurisdiction or not, and that such ships shall for the purpose of such regulations and rules be treated as if they were British ships:

And His Majesty is further pleased to direct that the Order shall come into operation on and after the 1st day of October 1909, and that as and from the coming into operation of this Order the Orders in Council specified in Schedule III to this Order shall be revoked and the same shall be revoked accordingly:

Each steam vessel may carry a small white light abaft the funnel or aftermast for the vessel board to steer by, but such light shall not be visible forward of the beam.

ARTICLE 4. (a) A vessel which from any accident is not under command shall carry at the same height as the white light mentioned in Article 2 (a), where they can best be seen, and, if a steam vessel, in line of that light, two red lights, in a vertical line one over the other, not less than 6 feet apart, and of such a character as to be visible all round the horizon at a distance of at least 5 miles; and shall by day carry in a vertical line one over the other not less than 6 feet apart, where they can best be seen, two black balls or shapes each 3 feet in diameter.

(b) A vessel employed in laying or in picking up a telegraph cable shall carry in the same position as the white light mentioned in Article 2 (a), and if a steam vessel, in line of that light, three lights in a vertical line one over the other, not less than 6 feet apart. The highest and lowest of these lights shall be red, and the middle light shall be white, and they shall be of such a character as to be visible all round the horizon, at a distance of at least 5 miles. By day she shall carry in a vertical line one over the other, not less than 6 feet apart, where they can best be seen, three shapes not less than 3 feet in diameter, of which the highest and lowest shall be globular or shape and red in colour, and the middle one discoidal in shape and white.

(c) The vessels referred to in this article when not making way through the water, shall not carry the side-lights, but when making way shall carry them.

(d) The lights and shapes required to be shown by this article are to be taken by other vessels as signals that the vessel showing them is not under command and must therefore get out of the way.

These signals are not signals of vessels in distress and requiring assistance. Such signals are contained in article 14.

ARTICLE 5. A sailing vessel under way, and any vessel, being towed, shall carry the same lights as are prescribed by Article 2 for a steam vessel under way with the exception of the white lights mentioned therein, which they shall never carry.

ARTICLE 6. Whenever, as in the case of small vessels under way during bad weather, the green and red side-lights cannot be fired, these lights shall be kept at hand lighted and ready for use; and shall, on the approach of or to other vessels, be exhibited on their respective sides in sufficient time to prevent collision, in such manner as to make them most visible, and so that the green light shall not be seen on the port side nor the red light on the starboard side, and, if practicable, more than two points abaft the beam on their respective sides.

To make the use of these portable lights more certain and easy, the lanterns containing these shall each be painted outside with the colour of the light they respectively contain, and shall be provided with proper screens.

ARTICLE 7. Steam vessels of less than 40, and vessels under oar or sail of less than 20, tons gross tonnage, respectively, and rowing boats, when under way, shall not be obliged to carry the lights mentioned in Article 3 (c), (d) and (e), but if they do not carry them they shall be provided with the following lights:—

1. Steam vessels of less than 40 tons shall carry—

(a) In the fore part of the vessel, or on or in front of the funnel, where it can best be seen, and at a height above the gunwale of not less than 3 feet, a bright white light constructed and fixed as prescribed in Article 2 (c), and of such a character as to be visible at a distance of at least 2 miles.

(b) Green and red side-lights constructed and fixed as prescribed in Article 3 (d) and (e), and of such a character as to be visible at a distance of at least 2 miles, as a combined lantern showing a green light and a red light beam, each about two points abeam the beam of their respective sides. Such lanterns shall be carried not less than 3 feet below the white light.

2. Small steamboats, such as are carried by sea-going vessels, may carry the white light at a low height, thus 3 feet above the gunwale, but it shall be carried above the combined lanterns, mentioned in sub-division 1 (b).

3. Vessels under oar or sail, of less than 20 tons, shall have ready at hand a lantern with a green glass on one side and a red glass on the other, which, on the approach of or to other vessels, shall be exhibited in sufficient time to prevent collision, so that the green light shall not be seen on the port side nor the red light on the starboard side.

4. Rowing boats, whether under oar or sail, shall have ready at hand a lantern showing a white light, which shall be immediately exhibited in sufficient time to prevent collision.

The vessels referred to in this article shall not be obliged to carry the lights prescribed by Article 4 (a), and Article 12, last paragraph.

ARTICLE 8. Pilot-vessels, when engaged on their station on pilotage duty, shall not show the lights required for other vessels. Let shall carry a white light at the stern, visible all round the horizon, and shall also exhibit a three-way light or three-way lights at short intervals, which shall never exceed three minutes.

On the same approach of or to other vessels they shall have their side lights lighted, ready for use, and shall flash or show them at short intervals, so indicate the direction in which they are heading, but the green light shall not be shown on the port side, nor the red light on the starboard side.

A pilot-vessel of such a class as to be obliged to go alongside of a vessel to put a pilot on board, may show the white light instead of carrying it as afloat, and may, instead of the coloured lights above mentioned, have at hand ready for use a lantern with a green glass on the one side and red glass on the other, to be used as prescribed above.

A steam pilot-vessel voluntarily employed for the service of pilots licensed or notified by any pilotage authority or the Committee of any pilotage district, when engaged on her station on pilotage duty and not on anchor, shall, in addition to the lights required for all pilot boats, carry at a distance of 8 feet below her white sternward light a red light visible all round the horizon and at such a distance as to be visible at a distance of at least 2 miles with a clear atmosphere at a distance of at least 2 miles, and also the coloured side-lights required to be carried by vessels when under way.

When engaged on her station on pilotage duty and at anchor she shall carry, in addition to the lights required for all pilot boats, the red light above mentioned, but not the coloured side-lights.

Pilot-vessels, when not engaged on their station on pilotage duty, shall carry lights similar to those of other vessels of their tonnage.

ARTICLE 9. Fishing vessels and fishing boats, when under way and when not required by this article to carry the lights hereinafter specified, shall carry or show the lights prescribed for vessels of their tonnage under way.

(a) Open boats, by which it is to be understood boats not protected from the entry of sea water by means of a continuous deck, when engaged in any fishing at night with outlying tackle extending not more than 150 feet horizontally from the bow into the seaway, shall carry one all-round white light.

Open boats, when fishing at night, with outlying tackle extending more than 150 feet horizontally from the bow into the seaway, shall carry one all-round white light, and, in addition, an approaching or being approached by other vessels, shall show a second white light at least 5 feet below the first light and at a horizontal distance of at least 3 feet away from it in the direction in which the outlying tackle is stretched.

(b) Towed and barge, except open boats as defined in sub-division (a), when fishing with drift nets, shall, so long as the nets are wholly or partly in the water, carry two white lights between them, which shall be not less than 4 feet and not more than 15 feet, and so that the horizontal distance between them, measured in a line with the bow, shall be not less than 6 feet and not more than 18 feet. The lower of these two lights shall be in the direction of the tow, and both of them shall be of such a character as to show all round the horizon, and to be visible at a distance of not less than 3 miles.

Within the Suluarchipelago Sea and in the sea bordering the coasts of Japan and Korea, sailing fishing vessels of less than 20 tons gross tonnage shall not be obliged to carry the lights of sub-division (b), should they, however, not carry it, they shall show in the same position (in the direction of tow or gear) a white light, visible at a distance of not less than one mile, on the approach of or to other vessels.

* This article does not apply to Chinese or Japanese vessels.

* The expression "Suluarchipelago Sea" mentioned in sub-division (b) and (c) of this article includes the Sulu Sea and the other adjacent waters used in communicating with it.

† Fishing vessels and boats when engaged in the "towing" or "hauling" of fishing nets shall carry the lights prescribed for vessels fishing with drift nets.

‡ Also, at night, Japanese vessels, in the sea bordering the Baltic including the straits of Russia.

- (3) Yachts and boats, except open boats as defined in subdivisions (6), when two sailing with their sails set and attached to or leading their bows, and when not at anchor or under way, shall carry the same lights as vessels fishing with drift nets. When shooting lines or fishing with towing lines, they shall carry the lights prescribed for a steamer or sailing vessel under way respectively.

While the Mediterranean Sea and in the sea bordering the coasts of Japan and Korea * sailing fishing vessels of less than 20 tons gross tonnage shall not be obliged to carry the lower of these two lights; should carry, however, not carry it, they shall show at the same position (in the forenoon of the lower) a white light, visible at a distance of not less than one mile on the approach of or to other vessels.

- (4) Yachts, when engaged in sailing, by which is meant the dragging of an apparatus along the bottom of the sea—

1. If steam vessels, shall carry in the same position as the white light mentioned in Article 2 (1), a tricoloured lantern so constructed and fixed as to show a white light from right ahead to two points on each bow, and a green light and a red light each on one of the beams from two points on each bow, in two points about the bows on the starboard and port sides respectively; and not less than 6 nor more than 12 feet below the tricoloured lantern a white light in a lantern, so constructed as to show a clear column and unbroken light all round the horizon.

2. If sailing vessels, shall carry a white light in a lantern, so constructed as to show a clear column and unbroken light all round the horizon, and shall also, on the approach of or to other vessels, show where it can best be seen a white flash-up light or torch in sufficient time to prevent collision.

All lights mentioned in subdivisions (4) 1 and 2 shall be visible at a distance of at least 2 miles.

- (5) Oyster dredges and other vessels fishing with dredges shall carry and show the same lights as trawlers.

- (6) Fishing vessels and fishing-boats may at any time run a flash-up light in addition, to the lights which they are by this article required to carry and show, and they may also use working lights.

- (7) Every fishing-vessel and every fishing-boat under 150 feet in length, when at anchor, shall exhibit a white light visible all round the horizon at a distance of at least one mile.

Every fishing-vessel of 150 feet in length or upwards, when at anchor, shall exhibit a white light visible all round the horizon at a distance of at least one mile, and shall exhibit a second light or lights, whether under 150 feet in length, or of 150 feet in length or upwards, be anchored in a net or other fishing gear, she shall on the approach of other vessels show an additional white light at least 3 feet below the anchor light, and at a horizontal distance of at least a feet away from it in the direction of the net or gear.

- (8) If a vessel or boat when fishing becomes stationary in consequence of her gear getting fast to a rock or other obstruction, she shall in daytime haul down the day-signal required by subdivision (7); at night show the light or lights prescribed for a vessel at anchor; and sound a siren or whistle. (See subdivisions (6), and the last paragraph of Article 13.)

- (9) In day, week, fishing gear, or heavy rain-storms, different vessels attached to their nets, and fishing with their nets, shall, if of 20 tons gross tonnage or upwards, respectively, at intervals of not more than one minute make a flash; if of less tonnage, with the whistle or siren, and if sailing vessels, with the day-signal; each flash to be followed by ringing the bell. Fishing vessels and boats of less than 20 tons gross tonnage shall not be obliged to give the above-mentioned signals; but if they do so, they shall make some other efficient sound signal at intervals of not more than one minute.

- (10) All vessels or boats fishing with nets or lines or trawls, when under way, shall in day time indicate their position to an approaching vessel by displaying a lantern or other efficient signal, on the approach of other vessels, show the same signal as they do in which those vessels are put.

The vessels required by this article to carry or show the lights hereinbefore specified shall not be obliged to carry the lights prescribed by Article 4 (1), and the last paragraph of Article 11.

ARTICLE 10. A vessel which is being overtaken by another shall show from her stern to each beam-ward vessel a white light or a flash-up light.

The white light required to be shown by this article may be fixed and carried in a lantern, but is not less than the lantern shall, by so constructed, fixed, and arranged that it shall show an unbroken light over an arc of the horizon of 12 points of the compass, viz., for 6 points from right, and on each side of the vessel, so as to be visible at a distance of at least 1 mile. Each light shall be carried so nearly as practicable on the same level as the side-lights.

ARTICLE 11. A vessel under 120 feet in length, when at anchor, shall carry forward, where it can best be seen, but at a height not exceeding 20 feet above the hull, a white light in a lantern so constructed as to show a clear, uniform, and unbroken light visible all round the horizon at a distance of at least 1 mile.

A vessel of 120 feet or upwards in length, when at anchor, shall carry in the forward part of the vessel, at a height of not less than 24 feet and not exceeding 30 feet above the hull, one such light and at or near the stern of the vessel, and at such a height that it shall be not less than 15 feet lower than the forward light, another such light.

The length of a vessel shall be deemed to be the length appearing in her certificate of registry.

* Also, as regards Russian vessels, in the sea bordering the Baltic bordering the coasts of Spain.

A vessel approaching in or near a fairway shall carry the above light or lights and the two red lights prescribed by Article 4 (c).

ARTICLE 13. Every vessel may, if necessary in order to attract attention, in addition to the lights which she is by these Rules required to carry, show a flare-up light or one or two flashing signals that cannot be mistaken for a distress signal.

ARTICLE 13. Nothing in these Rules shall interfere with the operation of any special rules made by the Government of any nation with respect to additional distress and signal lights for two or more ships at war or for vessels sailing under enemy, or with the exhibition of temporary signals adopted by shipowners, which have been authorized by their respective Governments and duly registered and published.

ARTICLE 14. A steam vessel proceeding under sail only, but having her funnel up, shall carry in day time, forward, where it can best be seen, one black ball or shape 2 feet in diameter.

Signal Signals for Fog, etc.

ARTICLE 15. All signals prescribed by this article for vessels under way shall be given:

1. By "steam vessels" on the whistle or siren.

2. By "sailing vessels and vessels towed," on the fog-horn.

The words "prolonged blast" used in this article shall mean a blast of from 4 to 6 seconds' duration.

A steam vessel shall be provided with an efficient whistle or siren, sounded by steam or some substitute for steam, as placed that the sound may not be interrupted by any obstruction, and with an efficient fog-horn, to be sounded by mechanical means, and also with an efficient bell.*

A sailing vessel or vessel towed shall be provided with a similar fog-horn and bell.

In fog, mist, falling snow, or heavy rain-storms, whether by day or night the signals described in this article shall be used as follows, viz.:-

- (a) A steam vessel having way upon her, shall sound, at intervals of not more than 2 minutes, a prolonged blast.
- (b) A steam vessel under way, but stopped and having no way upon her, shall sound, at intervals of not more than 2 minutes, two prolonged blasts, with an interval of about 1 second between blasts.
- (c) A sailing vessel under way shall sound, at intervals of not more than 1 minute when on the starboard tack one blast, when on the port tack two blasts in succession, and when with the wind abaft the beam three blasts in succession.
- (d) A vessel, when at anchor, shall, at intervals of not more than 1 minute, ring the bell rapidly for about 5 seconds.
- (e) A vessel, when towing, a vessel employed in fishing or in picking up a telegraph cable, and a vessel under way, which is unable to get out of the way of an approaching vessel through being not under command, or unable to manoeuvre as required by these Rules shall, instead of the signals prescribed in sub-articles (a) and (c) of this article, at intervals of not more than 3 minutes, send three blasts in succession, viz., one prolonged blast followed by two short blasts. A vessel towed may give this signal, and the short and give one other.

Falling vessels and boats of less than 50 tons gross tonnage shall not be obliged to give the above-mentioned signals, but if they do so, they shall make some other efficient sound signal at intervals of not more than 1 minute.

Signal of Ships to be made in Fog, etc.

ARTICLE 16. Every vessel shall in a fog, mist, falling snow, or heavy rain-storm, go at a moderate speed, having careful regard to the existing circumstances and conditions.

A steam vessel towing, apparently forward of her beam, the fog-signal of a vessel the position of which is not ascertained, shall, so far as the circumstances of the case admit, stop her engines, and (two minutes with caution until danger of collision is over).

STEAMER AND SAILING RULES.

Precaution—Risk of Collision.

Risk of collision on, when circumstances permit, be averted by carefully watching the compass bearing of an approaching vessel. If the bearing does not appreciably change, such risk should be deemed to exist.

ARTICLE 17. When two sailing vessels are approaching one another, so as to involve risk of collision, one of them shall keep out of the way of the other, as follows, viz.:-

- (a) A vessel which is running free shall keep out of the way of a vessel which is close-hauled.
- (b) A vessel which is close-hauled on the port tack shall keep out of the way of a vessel which is close-hauled on the starboard tack.
- (c) When both are running free, with the wind on different sides, the vessel which has the wind on the port side shall keep out of the way of the other.
- (d) When both are running free, with the wind on the same side, the vessel which is to windward shall keep out of the way of the vessel which is to leeward.
- (e) A vessel which has the wind aft shall keep out of the way of the other vessel.

* In all cases where the Rules require a bell to be used a siren may be substituted or, in the case of a tug, where such bell is used, or in the case of a tug, where such bell is used, or in the case of a tug, where such bell is used.

† In the case of pleasure boats, when engaged on their duties or pleasure duty in fog, mist, falling snow, or heavy rain-storms, are required to make a whistle of 5 seconds at least one long blast with the steam, followed after 1 second by a short blast in the same direction. When not engaged on their duties or pleasure duty, they make the same signals as other pleasure boats.

ARTICLE 18. When two steam vessels are meeting and so, or nearly so, as to involve risk of collision, each shall alter her course to starboard, so that each may pass on the port side of the other.

This article only applies to cases where vessels are meeting and so, or nearly so, as to involve risk of collision, and does not apply to two vessels which meet, or both keep on their respective courses, past each other.

The only case in which it does apply is when each of the two vessels is on an, or nearly on, or, to the other; in other words, to cases in which, by day, each vessel sees the stern of the other in a line, or nearly in a line, with her own, and, by night, to cases in which each vessel is in such a position as to see both the side lights of the other.

It does not apply, by day, to cases in which a vessel sees another ahead on her own course; or by night, to cases where the red light of one vessel is opposed to the red light of the other, or where the green light of one vessel is opposed to the green light of the other, or where a red light without a green light, or a green light without a red light, is seen ahead, or where both green and red lights are seen anywhere but ahead.

ARTICLE 19. When two steam vessels are crossing, so as to involve risk of collision, the vessel which has the other on her own starboard side shall keep out of the way of the other.

ARTICLE 20. When a steam vessel and a sailing vessel are proceeding in such directions as to involve risk of collision, the steam vessel shall keep out of the way of the sailing vessel.

ARTICLE 21. Where by any of these Rules out of two vessels it is kept out of the way, the other shall keep her course and speed.

NOTE.—When, in consequence of thick weather or other causes, each vessel finds herself so close that collision cannot be avoided by the action of the giving-way vessel alone, she also shall take such action as will best aid to avert collision. (See Articles 17 and 18.)

ARTICLE 22. Every vessel which is directed by these Rules to keep out of the way of another vessel shall, if the circumstances of the case admit, stand away from the other.

ARTICLE 23. Every motor vessel which is directed by these Rules to keep out of the way of another vessel shall, on approaching her, if necessary, slacken her speed, or stop or reverse.

ARTICLE 24. Notwithstanding anything contained in these Rules, every vessel, overtaking any other, shall keep out of the way of the overtaken vessel.

Every vessel coming up with another vessel from any direction more than two points abaft her beam, i.e., in such a position, with reference to the vessel which she is overtaking, that at night she would be visible by the use either of that vessel's side lights, shall be deemed to be an overtaking vessel; and no subsequent alteration of the bearing between the two vessels shall make the overtaking vessel a crossing vessel, within the meaning of these Rules, or relieve her of the duty of keeping clear of the overtaken vessel until she is finally past and clear.

As by day the overtaken vessel must always bear with certainty whatever she is forward or abaft the direction from the other vessel, she should, if in doubt, assume that she is an overtaking vessel and keep out of the way.

ARTICLE 25. In narrow channels every steam vessel shall, when it is safe and practicable, keep to that side of the narrow channel or mid-channel which lies on the starboard side of each vessel.

ARTICLE 26. Sailing vessels under way shall keep out of the way of sailing vessels or boats fishing with nets, or lines, or trawls. This Rule shall not give to any vessel or boat engaged in fishing the right of obstructing a fair way used by vessels other than fishing-vessels or boats.

ARTICLE 27. In obeying and construing these Rules, due regard shall be had to all dangers of navigation and collision, and to any special circumstances which may render a departure from the above Rules necessary in order to avoid immediate danger.

Sound Signals for Fresh in sight of one another.

ARTICLE 28. The words "short blast" used in this article shall mean a blast of about one second's duration.

When vessels are in sight of one another, a steam vessel under way, in taking any course without or required by these Rules, shall indicate that course by the following signals on her whistle or siren:

One short blast to mean, "I am changing my course to starboard."

Two short blasts to mean, "I am changing my course to port."

Three short blasts to mean, "My engines are going full speed astern."

No vessel shall in any circumstances neglect proper practice.

ARTICLE 29. Nothing in these Rules shall excuse any vessel, or the master, or crew thereof, from the consequences of any neglect to carry lights or signals, or of any signal to keep a proper lookout, or of any neglect of any practice which may be required by the ordinary practice of seamen, or by the special circumstances of the case.

Restriction of Rules for Harbours and Inland Navigation.

ARTICLE 30. Nothing in these Rules shall interfere with the operation of a special rule, duly made by the local authority, relative to the navigation of any harbour, river, or inland water.

Distress Signals.

ARTICLE 31. When a vessel is in distress and requires assistance from other vessels or from the shore, the following shall be the signals to be used or displayed by her, either together or separately, viz.:—

1. At day time—

At night.—

1. A gun or other explosive signal fired at intervals of about a minute;
2. Flares on the vessel (or from a burning tar-barrel, oil-barrel, &c.);
3. Rockets or shells, throwing stars of any colour or description, fired one at a time, at short intervals;

From—His Britannic Majesty's Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary at Constantinople.
To—His Majesty the Emperor.

Measures against Bubonic and Typhoid (sic) ordered on medical visit. Measures against Bubonic Typhoid, Asiatic Cholera (included) and Jaundice (included) ordered to medical visit and disinfection for ships with passengers, medical inspection for ships without passengers.

(c) Goods loaded for custody in the Trust as ballast, by importers, exporters or steamer agents, must be bonded at the place or places specified for the purpose by the Trust, who, in the case of exports, will not issue the goods for shipment until the receipt given for them, or a receipt of equivalent validity, shall have been handed to the Trust by the exporter.

2. BOARD'S ACTION ON FOREIGN GOODS.—(a) To carry goods to water.—Under section 10 of (in Art the Board has the option to land, ship or tranship goods before removal to the port and its wharves, piers or docks. But the Board does not at present propose to exercise such option.

(b) To levy charge of goods for delivery or shipment.—Under section 10 of its Act, the Board has the option to undertake the reception, removal, portage or storage of goods brought within its premises. For goods so taken charge of the Board is bound, under section 40 (a) of its Act, to give a receipt. But at present it does not take charge of the following classes of goods, all of which are at present risk whether in the open or under such shelter as may have been found in wharves or bonded by the Board, viz.:—(1) exports for which a receipt has not been granted; (2) iron and steel loaded in the bulk bins (see para. 5); (3) raw textile weaving cargo other than the commodities that must be labelled under the Board's commodity permit; (4) Government stores and (5) the classes of goods enumerated in paragraph 3 (a), i.e., firebricks, coal, coke, stone, lime, cement, sugar, tobacco, hardware, bulk oil, empty oil casks, railroad timber, and all goods loaded outside the harbour.

But if, at the request of importers, any of the goods just mentioned are handled by the Trust, it will levy an additional charge equal to the actual cost incurred in such handling, with 4 annas per ton, as a minimum and also covers charges if incurred, but will accept no responsibility in respect of such cargo. Whenever the Port Trust relinquishes the portage of commodities containing cargo, the rates of harbour dues on such cargo will be 4 annas less than those quoted in the above scale of rates; this reduction will not, however, apply in the exceptional cases referred to. Whenever the Port Trust relinquishes the portage of iron or steel, assigned to others than Government, the rate of harbour dues thereon will be 4 annas per ton less than that quoted in the above scale of rates.

(b) Of imports.—In order to avoid the confusion that must arise if the levying of such charges as require to be levied over the Trust's lines is left to be done by exporters (inasmuch as the Trust performs the work for the exporters, charging for it by a 4-anna per ton rate on all goods in bonded zone which also covers the cost of crating into lighters, when necessary. Exports handled by the Trust, however, come into the custody of the Trust last prior to the rate of the export, unless, as a special case, a receipt shall have been granted as provided in section 40 (1) of the Harbour Port Trust Act.

4. SPECIAL PORTAGE.—For portage done by the Trust and not covered by harbour dues, the charge will be the actual cost to the Trust of such portage, with 4 annas per ton as a minimum.

5. MINIMUM CHARGE.—If the aggregate of all charges payable to the Trust in respect of any one consignment shall amount to less than 4 annas, a charge of 4 annas will be levied for that consignment.

6. GOVERNMENT STORES.—For all Government stores, except space and stores of the description mentioned in paragraph 3 (a), a uniform rate will be charged of Rs. 2 per 100 sq. ft. or per ton of 40 cubic feet, whichever is less. This rate does not include storage, a dock will be served at the usual rates. Whenever the Port Trust relinquishes the portage of the Government stores referred to, the rate of harbour dues for such stores will be Rs. 1-15-0 per ton subject of Rs. 2. The bargeage of troops embarking and disembarking will be covered by a charge of 4 annas per head on soldiers and followers. All regimental and reserve stores and officers' charges will be charged at wholesale rates.

7. STORAGE, QUANTARY.—(a) Exports.—On goods not cleared within the four days following the date on which the vessel concerned shall have completed discharge of her cargo, and including Sundays and Christmas or Commerce holidays, storage will be charged at the following rates:—

For the 1st week or portion thereof, one-fourth of the rates given in the above scale.

For the 2nd week or portion thereof, half of such rates.

For each of the 3rd and following weeks, or parts thereof, three-fourths of such rates.

(b) Imports.—For goods stored in the wharves, export sheds, a charge of Rs. 2 per day will be made for each space of 100 square feet or part thereof for the first week after the expiry of four free days, such additional Sundays and Christmas or Commerce holidays. For the second week, double the rate for the first week will be charged. For the third and subsequent weeks the rate for the first week will be charged. Procedure to be adopted by licensee.

Protection from lightning. 36. A licensee shall adopt efficient means for protecting any portion of an electric supply-line or any support, guard wire or leader wire of an electric supply-line which is exposed in such a position as to be liable to injury from lightning.

36. A licensee shall be responsible that all electric supply-lines, fittings and apparatus belonging to him, or under his control, which may be in a consumer's premises, are maintained in a safe condition, and shall take all due precautions to avoid risk of coming fire as such provided by means of his electric supply lines, fittings or apparatus or any defect therein.

37. A licensee shall issue a suitable notice in each service line (other than a switched control conductor or the switched external conductor of a consumer's cable) within a consumer's premises, in an accessible position as close as possible to the point of entry. Such notice shall be contained within an adequately enclosed fire-proof receptacle.

Provided that, where more than one consumer is supplied through a common service line, such individual enclosure (if he is required) shall be given an independent outlet at the point of junction to the common service.

38. All portions of a service line on a consumer's premises, shall, unless inaccessible without the aid of a ladder or other special appliance, be continuously covered with insulating material and thoroughly protected against injury to the insulation or access of moisture and any metal forming part of the electric circuit shall not, unless connected with earth, be exposed so that it can be touched.

Procedure to be adopted by owner.

Provisions when power exceeds 125 volts. 39. When an owner generates or uses energy—

- (1) the supply of energy to every vehicle, travelling crane or the like shall be effectively controlled by a suitable switch, so that by its means all pressure can be cut off from all apparatus connected and from any device in connection therewith;
- (2) trailing cables for portable machines shall be specially flexible, heavily insulated and protected from mechanical injury (where the provision is, by means of flexible coupling or moving the cable or setting it in a building, they shall be inaccessible without the aid of a ladder or other special appliance);
- (3) where bare conductors are used in a building, they shall be inaccessible without the aid of a ladder or other special appliance;
- (4) as regards any part of any electrical apparatus shall be effected, while the part is charged to a pressure of or exceeding 250 volts energy by an authorized person.

Electric supply-lines.

40. Every electric supply-line shall be maintained in a safe condition as regards both electrical and mechanical conditions by the person to whom the same belongs.

41. All circuits and apparatus shall be so arranged by the person to whom the same belong that there shall be no danger of any part thereof becoming accidentally charged to any pressure beyond the limits of pressure for which it is intended.

Accidental charge.

42. Where an electric supply-line crosses, as it is permitted to, any metallic substance, such precautions as an Electric Inspector may apprehend to be taken by the licensee or the owner, as the case may be, against the possibility of the metallic substance becoming charged:

Provided that, where the electric supply-line was laid or erected previous to such metallic substance, the cost incurred in taking such precautions shall be refunded to the licensee or owner, as the case may be, by the person to whom the metallic substance belongs.

43. Every electric supply-line (other than the surface overhead conductor of any system or the overhead external conductor of a non-current-carrying) shall be protected, by the person to whom the same belongs, by a suitable coating.

44. All metallic casings enclosing or protecting any electric supply-line shall be connected with earth by the person to whom the same belong, and shall be so joined and connected across all joints and other openings as to make good electrical connection throughout their whole length:

Provided that this rule shall not apply to isolated wall cables or to telegraphs, telephones, standards, switch covers or other fittings, where the supply is at low pressure.

45. The covers or doors of all junction boxes or pillars in any street shall be so secured that they cannot be opened except by means of a special appliance.

46. In every distributing system in which there is a neutral conductor where the pressure between the neutral conductor and an outer or phase conductor exceeds 25 volts, the neutral conductor shall be connected with earth by two separate and distinct earth connections and in accordance with the following provisions, namely:—

- (a) the connection with earth of the neutral conductor shall be made at one point only as each distinct system, namely, at the generating station or sub-station, as the case may be, and the insulation of the system shall be maintained at all other parts;
- (b) the current from the neutral conductor to earth shall, in the case of a licensee's distributing system, be continuously recorded, and if at any time it exceeds one thousandth part of the maximum supply current, steps shall immediately be taken to improve the insulation of the system;
- (c) the connection with earth referred to in clause (a) shall not be made by the old or new shall be in contact with, any water-pipe, gas-pipe or similar pipe not belonging to the licensee or owner, as the case may be, a telegraph, not exceeding 25 volts, may be inserted between the neutral busbar and earth, and if so inserted it shall be of sufficient cross-sectional area to carry the current which would pass should it occur as phase conductor become accidentally connected with earth;
- (d) the connection with earth shall not be removed except for the purpose of testing, in which case it shall be made good again as soon as such test is finished, and a record of any such discontinuance shall be kept by the licensee or owner, as the case may be:

- (b) a suitable switch shall be inserted in each conductor, near the point of origin on the licensee's or owner's premises, as the case may be;
- (c) every connection, unless easily accessible to an authorized person, shall be as far as is practicable, completely enclosed in a mechanically strong metal casing or covering, securely fastened throughout or fixed in such other manner as may be approved in writing by an Electric Inspector;
- (d) the supply to every apparatus shall be effectively controlled by a switch in each conductor, so that by its means all pressure can be cut off from the apparatus concerned and from any device in series therewith;
- (e) the word "caution," both in English and in the vernacular, shall be affixed in a conspicuous position near every generator (being the property of an owner) and near every motor, and every controlling or regulating apparatus in connection with the same.

54. Where the conductors of a multi-wire system between any of which there is medium or high pressure, are brought into a building for utilization at low pressure, the conductors shall be delivered to two or more pairs of terminals, and the wiring from those terminals shall be kept separate and distinct. If in any such case two or more switches, breakers or cut-outs between any of which there is a difference of pressure exceeding 250 volts, are fitted within reach of one another, all their live parts shall be accessible only to authorized persons.

55. Where the pressure is medium or high there shall be, in front of every main switch board, a main switch board there are any sub-stations or sub-connections of the back of the switchboard, the space (if any) behind the switchboard, shall be either less than 8 inches, or more than 20 inches, and, if the space (if any) behind the switchboard is less than 8 inches, or more than 20 inches, the switchboard shall be removed from the further out-standing part of any sub-station or sub-connection. If the space behind exceeds 50 inches in width there shall be a passage way clear to a height of not less than 6 feet, and as regards any horizontal supports of the switchboard, which may be placed at a height of not less than 4 feet 6 inches.

67. Where an aerial line, erected in, over, along or across any street seems to be used as an electric supply-line, it shall be maintained in a safe and satisfactory condition in accordance with the provisions of rule 60, or, if so required by an Electric Inspector, be removed within a period of 14 days from the date of such Inspector's requisition for removal.

Electric traction.

68. Rules 60 to 66 shall apply in the case of energy used for purposes of traction where the provisions of Part III of the Act apply. In these rules, the conductor used for transmitting energy to a vehicle is referred to as the "line", and the other conductor as the "return".

69. Notwithstanding the provisions of rule 66, the pressure of supply on any trolley wire or other conductor used in direct electrical and mechanical connection with any vehicle shall not be high except with the written approval of the Local Government and subject to such conditions (if any) as the Local Government may think reasonable and proper in the circumstances.

(2) Where the owner's uninsulated return is in proximity to any metallic pipe, structure or substance not belonging to him, he shall, if so required by the person to whom such pipe, structure or substance belongs, connect his return therewith at the expense of such person.

73. (1) Where the return is partly or entirely uninsulated, the owner shall, in the construction and maintenance of his system, adopt such means for reducing the difference produced by the current between the potential of the uninsulated return at any one point and the potential of the uninsulated return at any other point as to ensure that the difference of potential between the uninsulated return and any metallic pipe, structure or substance in the vicinity shall not exceed four volts, where the return is relatively positive, or one and one-third volt, where the return is relatively negative.

(2) The person to whom any such pipe, structure or substance as is referred to in sub-rule (1) belongs, may, in respect of the same, require the owner of the uninsulated return, at reasonable times and intervals, to ascertain by test in his presence, or in that of his representative, whether the condition specified in the said sub-rule is secured; and, if such condition is shown to be found to be secured, all reasonable expense of and incidental to the carrying-out of the test shall be borne by the owner of the works, pipe, structure or substance.

74. Where the return is partly or entirely uninsulated, the owner shall keep a continuous record of the difference of potential during the working of his system between every junction of an insulated return with an uninsulated return, and the point on the same nearest every vehicle.

74. Where both the line and the return are not placed within a conduit, the lockage circuit shall be disconnected daily before or after the hours of running, when the line is fully charged; and if at any time it is found (after deducting one-half of an ampere per mile of single trackway track, the transmission and use of energy shall be suspended unless the lockage is stopped within twenty-four hours.

NOTIFICATION

¹ No. 32.—As value of the powers delegated under clause XIII (8) of German-Greek Notification No. 148, dated 13th July 1939, and under rule 64 of the Mailways and Warehouses (Notes published as German Navigation No. 148, dated 29th October 1939, at pages 1418 to 1448 of the Zeit. Schiffsrecht, dated 14th November 1939, and in expression of previous rules on the subject, see

Commissioner of Salt, Abkisk and Separate Revenue hereby makes the following rules on the subject of working hours in distilleries and warehouses and the levy of fine for overtime service rendered by officers attached thereto:—

(1) No overtime shall be chargeable unless the total number of hours worked during the month exceeds the number of working hours in the month calculated at the rate of eight hours per working day.

(2) Every claim for overtime should be accompanied by a statement of work done during the month explaining fully how overtime became necessary.

(3) On every occasion on which an officer charges for more than eight hours duty in the 24 or for work on a Sunday or authorized holiday, a written requisition from the distiller or warehouse keeper must be produced in support of the claim. Each requisition should certify that overtime was worked from hour minute to hour minute, and the certificate should be signed jointly by the distiller or the warehouse-keeper and the officer in charge.

(4) The holidays to be allowed, exclusive of Sundays, are only those notified under the Negotiable Instruments Act. Of these, Sundays, New Year's Day, Good Friday, the King's Birthday and Christmas Day are also to be regarded as close holidays. On the other holidays, the officer in charge should attend for two hours for the conduct of urgent business if required to do so in writing by the distiller or warehouse-keeper. The two hours should be consecutive and no fee should be charged for work done during these hours. If there be no work for full two hours, the officer need not remain at the distillery or warehouse. If, however, he be required at a subsequent period, fresh application must be made and overtime from closed. No warehouse or distillery warehouse should be opened on Sundays or official holidays simply for the purpose of pressing and porting liquor already entered. When warehouses are opened on those days or on the requisition of the distiller or warehouse-keeper, the work then done should be only that detailed in the requisition. The actual time occupied in putting up the accounts afforded will also be reckoned towards overtime work.

Each visit whatever may be the time occupied should be regarded as occupying a minimum of half an hour and should be charged as one hour.

(5) The fees to be charged should be as follows:—

(i) For the service of officers drawing more than Rs. 70 per mensem, when entitled by law, one fee, at the rate of one-eighth of a day's pay for each hour of overtime work.

(ii) For the service of other officers when entitled to such fee, at the rate of one-fifth of a day's pay for each hour of overtime work.

(6) The fees thus realized should be brought into the public accounts and paid in full to the officers to whom labour they are owed. The amount should be drawn at the end of the month on bills supported by a certificate signed by the District Inspector of the Circle concerned that the charges were for duties falling within the scope of their ordinary duties, but performed on holidays, or out of office hours, for the maintenance of distilleries or warehouse-keepers, together with a statement showing in detail the dates of payment and amounts of fees paid into the Treasury on account of which the claim is made. Bills on the above account should be supported by a certificate from the Treasury officer to the effect that the prescribed fees (the amount to be specified) were duly received credited in the Treasury account for the month, the particular date on which the credit is included being pointed out.
